Detailed Session Flow (From the Session Plan)

The Holi Playdate is ~90 minutes total, divided into five main activity segments, followed by a short cleanup period. Below is a highly detailed breakdown of each phase, including teacher prompts, child engagement, and teaching tips. Parents can get a glimpse of exactly what their kids will be doing—and see the level of care and creativity involved.

1. Holi Introduction (10–15 minutes)

1. Gather & Circle Time
 - Children sit in a circle on the floor. The teacher may play soft music or show pictures of Holi celebrations.
 - Tone: Warm, inviting. The teacher uses a soft, welcoming voice to put children at ease.
2. Holi Story
 - The teacher shows pictures of vibrant Holi scenes, highlighting the festival's joyous, colorful nature.
 - Brief, child-friendly retelling of Prahlad and Holika:
 - Prahlad was a kind boy.
 - Holika was a bad aunt who tried to harm him by taking him into a fire.
 - Because Prahlad was good, he stayed safe, and Holika got burned.
 - Emphasis on the moral: Goodness and kindness triumph over negativity.
3. Engagement
 - Children may be asked to say the word “Holi!” out loud, repeating after the teacher.
 - The teacher sets the stage: “Today, we will play with safe colors, dance, and create something special called a Rangoli!”
4. Atmosphere
 - Encouragement of a friendly group vibe—children get comfortable with each other.

2. Color Palette Creation (15–20 minutes)

1. Setup
 - Tables/counters are covered to protect from paint.
 - Each child receives a large white paper and small containers (or plates) of red, blue, and yellow finger paints.
2. Basic Technique
 - The teacher demonstrates how to dip one finger into paint and make dots/spots on the paper.
3. Magic of Mixing
 - Children are guided to see what happens when they blend two different primary colors (e.g., mixing red and yellow to get orange).

- Teacher's Approach:
 - "Try mixing red and blue—what do you see?"
 - "What if you add a bit of yellow to that?"
- 4. Encouragement
 - The teacher uses phrases like "You're a color scientist!" and "Wow, look at that new color!"
 - Emphasizes experimentation over getting "correct" colors.
 - Encourages children to clean their fingers between mixing to avoid muddy shades.
- 5. Outcomes
 - Children create their own "palette sheet" covered with color swatches, learning basic color theory through play.

3. Shape Stencil Design (10–15 minutes)

1. Magna-Tiles / Shape Exploration
 - Children receive Magna-Tiles or shape cutouts (e.g., triangles, squares).
 - They can piece them together in creative ways, building small structures if they like.
2. Tracing
 - Each child places a tile on paper and traces around it with crayons or markers, forming outlines.
 - This fosters hand–eye coordination and fine motor skills.
3. Collaboration
 - Teacher might encourage them to share Magna-Tiles ("If you have a red tile, maybe your friend can use your blue tile!").
4. Teacher Tips
 - If a child struggles with tracing, the teacher offers hand-over-hand assistance.
 - Reinforce that shapes can be traced multiple times or arranged in patterns for variety.

4. Rangoli Painting (15–20 minutes)

1. Rangoli Concept
 - Teacher introduces Rangoli as a colorful pattern or design made during festivals.
 - Children see it as an extension of their shape outlines and color experiments.
2. Painting the Design
 - Using the color palette they created earlier, children fill in the shape outlines with finger paints.
 - They can incorporate new color blends if they want to keep experimenting.
3. Stencil Techniques
 - Some children might place shape stencils on the paper and paint around them, then lift to reveal crisp outlines.
 - Teacher demonstrates gentle paint application to avoid tearing the paper.
4. Encouragement & Creativity

- Children are free to choose any colors, go beyond the shape lines if they like, or even layer colors.
 - Mistakes are welcomed as part of creative discovery.
5. Positive Reinforcement
- “Look at your beautiful Rangoli!”
 - “Wow, those colors look amazing together!”
 - “You’ve made something unique and wonderful!”

5. Movement Zone (10–15 minutes)

1. Transition
 - Tables are cleared. Children move to a safe, open area. Teacher plays upbeat Holi music at a moderate volume.
2. Dance & Color Play
 - Encouraged to clap to the rhythm, twirl slowly, or do gentle jumps.
 - The teacher introduces non-toxic gulal (dry Holi powder).
 - The focus is on softly sprinkling the powder in the air (away from faces).
3. Child Sensitivities
 - Some kids may be cautious about throwing powder.
 - The teacher reassures them: “It’s okay to watch or dance without the color!”
 - They can join at any time, no pressure.
4. Holi Celebration
 - The group vibe is playful—kids may lightly dab color on each other’s arms or swirl it around them.
 - Emphasis on respectful, gentle movement.
5. Safety
 - Teacher monitors children closely, ensuring powder doesn’t go into eyes or mouths.
 - Music volume is kept at a comfortable level.

6. Cleanup (5–10 minutes)

1. Guided Cleanup
 - Children receive wipes or wet towels to clean their hands (and faces if needed).
 - Discard used paper, leftover paint cups, or color powder containers in designated bins.
2. Responsibility Lesson
 - Even at a young age, they learn to tidy up after themselves.
 - Teacher praises them for being “wonderful helpers.”
3. Session Closure
 - The group briefly reconvenes.
 - Children show off their Rangoli or mention a favorite activity.
 - Teacher might do a final cheer: “Happy Holi, everyone!”

7. Assessment & Teacher Notes (Internal)

- Participation & Engagement:

- Did each child explore color mixing?
 - Did they enjoy or shy away from the dance/color segments?
 - Motor Skills:
 - Observe how they handled finger painting, tracing shapes, etc.
 - Collaboration:
 - Sharing Magna-Tiles, helping friends, etc.
 - Social Comfort:
 - Some kids might be cautious with new experiences. Teachers adapt accordingly.
 - Key Takeaway:
 - The session aims to be a joyful Holi party emphasizing color exploration, creativity, and sociability in a safe, child-friendly environment.

Frequently Addressed Topics for Prospective Attendees

1. Is my child too old or too young?
 - Ideal for ages 3–5. Slight flexibility if a 6-year-old sibling wants to join, but younger toddlers (<3) may find certain activities challenging.
2. Will the colors stain clothes?

- The colors are child-friendly but can lightly stain certain fabrics. Wearing older clothes is recommended; bring a spare change.
 - 3. What if I need to change the time slot or cancel?
 - Tickets are strictly non-refundable and non-reschedulable.
 - 4. Can I drop my child off?
 - At least one guardian is recommended to remain at the center. Amenities (Wi-Fi, coffee) are available for comfort.
 - 5. Why does it cost ₹749?
 - This fee covers all high-quality materials (paints, powders), the guided 90-minute session, plus a safe, child-friendly environment. It's also for 1 child + 1 adult.
 - 6. Parking issues?
 - Most centers do not offer on-site parking; using a cab or metro is advised.
 - 7. What if my child is sensitive to crowds or noise?
 - The teacher keeps music moderate and encourages shy kids to watch from the side. They can join in at any comfort level.
